

Boy, 9, Killed By School Bus From Which He Had Alighted; Returning From Party

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 24 — A nine-year-old Buckingham School boy was killed yesterday afternoon when run over by the school bus which transported him home from a Christmas party at the school. The victim was Edward Erwin, son of Joseph and Alice Erwin, of Swamp rd., Doylestown, R.D.

The accident occurred on U. S. Route 202, one mile east of Doylestown, in Buckingham twp. According to Pfc. Carl Schweiker, state trooper of Doylestown Barracks, Edward had alighted from the bus near his home, and was crossing in front of the vehicle with other pupils when the bus advanced on him.

The officer said the boy's companions had already crossed the road, but Edward apparently stopped in front of the bus to pick up some books and was out of vision of the driver, Ray V. Travis, 46, of Buckingham.

Taken by Travis, to Doylestown Hospital, the boy died there. Bucks County Coroner Russell J. T. Ferris issued a certificate of accidental death and ordered Dr. Fred Phillips to conduct an autopsy.

Travis, held for involuntary manslaughter, was released on bail.

Cantata Presented At A Candlelight Service

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Dec. 24 — On Sunday, a candle-light service and cantata were held in Cornwells Methodist Church by junior and senior choirs, under direction of Mrs. John Poston. Miss Elizabeth Bogardus was organist.

The following program was presented: "Hark Now O' Shepherds," senior choir; "The Shepherd Story," Marion Mattock, Patricia Bausch, Charles Mudie; "Joyous Carol," senior choir; "Bethlehem," junior choir.

Cantata, "The King Cometh" — "Awake Put On Thy Strength of Zion," senior choir; "And There Shall Come Forth a Rod," Patricia Bausch, Charles Mudie; "Therefore the Lord Himself Shall Give You a Sign," Audrey Hughes; "For Unto Us a Child is Born," Florence Conn, Doris Plunkett and Olive Gransback; "The Kingdom is an Everlasting Kingdom," Faye McCabe, Marion Mattock, Elsa Henry; "And the Angel Said Unto Mary," Alfred Pickles and Ruth Brucks; "He Shall be Great," choir; "And the Word was Made Flesh," Florence Conn, Ann Mudie; "There were Shepherds," choir; "And Lo the Angel of the Lord," Russell Manning, men's chorus; "And This Shall Be a Sign Unto You," Olive Gransback; "Once in David's Royal City," junior choir; "Glory to God in the Highest," entire group.

Fined for Failure to Collect Tax from Trailer Residents

FALLSINGTON, Dec. 24 — Charged with failing to collect a $10 annual tax from residents of Morrisville Trailer Park, Leroy Hart, operator, was fined $25 and $5 costs Monday by Justice of the Peace Elwood E. Fritz.

The complaint was filed by John Melvin, trailer inspector. Hart had also been cited with failure to notify the inspector of the number of trailers in his park, but that charge was dismissed.

A Falls twp. ordinance requiring the report and tax collection was adopted last summer. Robert M. Buettner, president of the Pennsylvania Trailer Park Association, said he will contest the law.

EDDINGTON, Dec. 24 — The Bensalem "Safeties," that bunch of girls and boys who, in sun, rain, snow or sleet, help guard the lives of public and parochial school children in Bensalem township nine or ten months of the year, had their "day" yesterday afternoon. Santa Claus singled them out — more than 100 strong — for special recognition when he flew here in his jolly St. Nick, who looked like Charles Walt, was chauffeured around town by Fire Chief William Trimble. The siren announced the new Ward-LaFrance engine as well as Santa's visit.

The tour ended at the fire house, where the children of this community lined up to see Santa. Assisting him in presenting gifts were Charles Kenny, chairman of the fire company's Christmas committee, and Fire Auxiliary members with Mrs. Jean Hadd, president.

Women working with Mrs. Hadd were Mrs. Mildred Young, vice president; Mrs. Eileen Kenny, Mrs. Virginia Leddon, Mrs. Dorothy

Cut Ninth Anniversary Cake at Meeting Here

A large cake, marking the ninth anniversary of Bristol Chapter, American War Mothers, was cut last evening at the December meeting in Tercher Post home. This and ice cream were served the 16 attending.

Mrs. Paul White, president, called for report of visits made during the past month to Byberry Hospital, Phila., and Valley Forge Hospital, Phoenixville. Gifts were taken to servicemen on these trips.

A gift exchange followed.

RESQUC SQUAD CASES

In industrial accidents, two Philadelphia, Edward Peterson, of 4037 Irving street, Phila., an employee of Seaboard Container Corporation, Croydon, and Henry Laub, of 1608 E. Barringer street, an employee of Schutte and Koerting, Cornwells Heights, required medical treatment. Peterson early this morning suffered an injury to a toe of the left foot and was transported to Trenton Orthopaedic by Bucks County Rescue Squad. Laub was transported to his home by the Squad after a large blood vessel in his left knee burst. The Squad reports the following transportations for yesterday: Mrs. Catherine Cornwell, from Oakley Apartments, Pennel, to Mercer Hospital, Trenton, N. J.; James Hoyt, of Newtown from Stone-Marlow Farms, Newtown, to St. Francis Hospital, Bronx, N. Y.; Mrs. Dorothy Carter of Edgely avenue, Edgely, to Nazareth Hospital; Charles Boss, of Lincoln Highway, Pennel, to Trenton Orthopaedic Hospital, and return; Thomas Smith, of 432 Pond street to Abington Hospital and return.

Fire Chief Again Warns Of Christmas Fires

Chief Clifford Hagerman Suggests Every Precaution Be Taken

"Each year the question arises as to the fire hazard of Christmas trees and Christmas decorations. The flammability of the trees used is well known, and considerable thought has been given to the question of rendering them less easily ignited," according to Chief Clifford Hagerman of the Bristol Fire Department. Various methods of treating trees with flameproofing solutions have been tried but none has proven too successful. After experimenting with several flame-resisting solutions Chief Hagerman has come to the conclusion that the best way is to keep the trees standing in either a pail or pan of water, which does not allow the

He Will Be St. Nicholas to Her

5-YEAR-OLD LIDIA OLENTCHENKO IS EXPECTING A VISITOR TONIGHT TO PLACE GIFTS BENEATH HER PILLOW AND NOT IN HER LITTLE STOCKING

Five-year-old Lidia Olientchenko is expecting a visitor tonight. No, it isn't Santa Claus. At least that's not what Lidia calls him. To her the jolly old fellow with long white beard and wearing a bright red suit, is Saint Nicholas. Although Lidia doesn't doubt but what Saint Nicholas will come, she won't look in her stocking for gifts, for she won't be hanging a Christmas stocking. The place to look (as everyone from the part of Europe from which Olientchenkos come know full well) is under the pillow. That's where the new toy, the nice new piece of warm clothing, or the goodie will be found on Christmas morn.

Lidia's family is one of about 15 families, formerly displaced persons (originally from the Ukraine) who have located in the section around Ashby and Venice avenues, Bristol township (just off Beaver Dam road). Lidia, herself, was born in Germany.

And many another tot in the little colony will thrust his or her little hand under the pillow as soon as they awake tomorrow morning. Shouts of glee will fill the little houses when they find that mother has made a new dress, a shirt, or possibly a gay necktie. It might be that a pair of mittens have been knitted, or perhaps a woolly cap.

The baby boy in the Litwinenko family on Ashby avenue is a little too young to seek his own gifts, but one of his sisters or brothers will no doubt be at the crib-side when he awakes, to hear him gurgle with glee — perhaps at a bright and shiny toy.

Older sister, Valentine Litwinenko, 16, is the "link" between the old and the new in life for all the Litwinenkos. Valentine, who served as interpreter for this reporter, helping to question Mrs. Litwinenko on Christmas in the Ukraine, and the bleaker days later in Germany, is a ninth grade student at Delhaas high school. Valentine has been in this country two years, and she is really enjoying it.

It was not difficult for Valentine to listen to the questions put to her in English about the differences or similarities of Christmas celebrations in the two countries, then query her mother in the Ukrainian language. Personally, her memories of Christmas in the Ukraine are rather hazy, as she was only seven when, with her family, she was taken to Germany, there to live (or just merely exist) for seven long years. But two years ago the world opened up for Valentine, and she has found life in the United States most exciting and much

Resident of Old Rogers Rd. Gains Marine Corps Promotion

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C., Dec. 24 — Marine Pfc. Paul F. Schmitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Schmitt, Old Rogers road, Bristol, Pa., recently completed his recruit training here by receiving a promotion to his present rank.

He also won the silver badge of Marine marksman when he fired the Garand rifle for record.

In addition to firing infantry weapons, Pvt. Schmitt became well versed in many military subjects and field tactics.

Tableau, "The Nativity," Included in A Program

NEWTOWN, Dec. 24 — The Sunday School of St. Luke's Episcopal Church held their Christmas entertainment Saturday. Members of the junior choir sang at evensong service, after which the congregation moved to the parish house where carols were sung. The choir is under direction of Mrs. Peter Dexeimer and Mrs. John Richardson. The members used red cassocks and white collars, which had been made by their mothers, for their first appearance.

A tableau of "The Nativity" was presented by other children: the Virgin Mary, Emma Hofmeister; Joseph, "Tommy" White; shepherds, Wilson Kistler and Scott Minor; crucifer, Paul Aldrich.

Following the advent of Santa Claus, ice cream and cookies were served. F. Stewart Whitman is superintendent of the Sunday School, and the Rev. Edmund T. Sills, rector of St. Luke's.

Firms in This Area Present Bonuses to Hundreds of Workers

The stockings that hang by the fire-places of many employees in this area will bulge this Christmas — being made "fat" with holiday bonuses from lower Bucks County firms.

Some business firms in Bristol and other parts of lower Bucks have long been planning and working on payment of bonuses or distribution of other gifts to their forces of employees. In some instances parties have been scheduled, with gala times marking the Yuletide season.

To each employee of Bancroft-Hickey Company a bonus was given on Monday. For every employee with the firm one or more years, the bonus was the equivalent of a week's pay. Smaller sums were given newer employees. On Friday the plant will be closed, to afford the group opportunity for a long holiday season.

Bonuses were paid Monday to all employees of Thomas L. Leedom Company. Yesterday afternoon members of the office force partici-

Police Search for Robber with $4,000 Loot

CRUM LYNN, Pa. — Police are hunting the Delaware county area today for a trio of masked robbers who grabbed $4,000 from a Crum Lynne delicatessen.

The thugs held up Samuel and Jacob Greenberg, the proprietors of the market, and their mother, Mrs. Hannah Greenberg.

The same store was held up for $6300 nine months ago. The Greenbergs told police that two of the bandits forced them at gunpoint to lie on the floor while the other rifled the cash register.

The men then fled in a New Jersey licensed sedan, making good their escape although Samuel Greenberg snatched up a pistol and fired five shots at the car.

Service Station Attendant Robbed

Philadelphia — A 26-year-old north Philadelphia service station attendant was beaten and robbed of nearly $100 early today.

The victim, Andrew Gray said he was attacked by two robbers who entered the station on the pretext of using the telephone, then drew knives and robbed him of more than $95.

Feels "Low," Prepares For Death; Parkland Man Writes a Note

Wm. F. Traub Tells of Heart "Beating Slowly;" Turns On Pad to Keep Warm

PARKLAND, Dec. 24 — He knew he was dying. He felt "low and bad". He realized his heart was "beating slowly" as he wrote in his note — so he prepared for his last moments. The last few hours for William F. Traub, 78, was a methodical period, but with a sorrowful time which he faced alone. Christmas eve was but 48 hours away, but he knew he would not live to see it.

Neighbors gaining entrance to his little home on Randle avenue last evening, just after dark, made the grim discovery.

"Coronary occlusion" reads the deputy coroner's report; with added information that the elderly man, had been dead about 36 hours.

Bit by bit the physician who was summoned, the deputy coroner, Dr. William L. Goldfarb, Bristol, and relatives and friends pieced the sad story together. The note, written in ink, was dated Dec. 22nd, when the ink "12:30 a. m." added. He wanted his folks to know just how things had gone in those last few moments.

Neighbors missed him yesterday, the daily newspapers had not been gathered, and last evening a Mr. Luke, who resides nearby placed a ladder against the house and attempted to peer in the second story window. In the darkness he could not see if Mr. Traub was there, but no response came to Mr. Luke's knock on the window. The neighbor made his way through the window and discovered the lifeless body in bed. The fire was out, the house cold. Mr. Luke, then summoned a physician.

According to the deputy coroner, Mr. Traub had written the note in

THIS CHRISTMAS

It is not strange if some men, of little faith, should find something of an absurdity in the promise of the first Christmas message of good tidings of great joy "which shall be to all people," of peace and "good will toward men."

It is true that America faces the incongruity of the festival's carols mingling with the threnody of bombers and tanks sounding in far-off Korea, that there are evidences everywhere that the faith that Christ's birth was meant to inspire is futile.

But hope can not be rejected so hastily. This Christmas may not be a carefree season, but still it will somehow be a happy one. Men will not be unaware of man's inhumanity to man. There will be hope springing eternal, and men will realize it.

They will realize how far the hope that had its origin in a stable at Bethlehem has brought the human race and that this hope, more than any other single factor in the life of man, has saved mankind from the debasement of utter savagery.

If men could see clearly the life of Christ from that first hour in the stable, where Mary and Joseph had sought refuge when the door of the inn was closed against them, to that last despairing hour of agony on the bare hill of Gethsemane, they might turn against war and its suffering.

But this vision would involve the possession of a degree of spiritual perfection which mankind, frail and ever fascinated by the temptation to err, does not enjoy. Men must be content, accordingly, with the knowledge that slowly, almost imperceptibly, progress is being made, and that eventually, although perhaps not in the time of anyone now living or that of their children, the world will see triumph of an ideal.

Yes, there are wars and rumors of wars, but the King of Kings, born in a manger, foresaw each departure from the divine plan throughout the ages and dismissed the subject. "The end is not yet," He said calmly.

No, the end is not yet. Man's plots and plans are brief and futile, even when conceived by the Caesars, the Alexanders, the Kings of France, the czars of Russia, the Napoleons and their modern counterparts. The captains and the kings depart and little that they do leaves an impress upon the sands of time.

All that endures is the Divine Purpose, which is as firm today and as unchanged as it was more than nineteen hundred years ago, when the first Christian, grown to manhood, walked the earth.

And today, in spite of the cynics and the scoffers, the war and the tumult throughout the ages, mankind has Christmas, which stands as an eternal guarantee of the invincibility of the Christian hope and of the divinity of the Child, born to a family of sojourners who sought refuge in a stable because there was no room in the inn.

ALL SET!

Scanning his long, long list, Santa Claus is here shown just outside his North Pole workshop, ready to "take off" tonight with his well-filled sleigh. While children all over the world sleep, Santa will fill their stockings with gifts.

"IS THERE A SANTA CLAUS?"

(1897 New York Sun)

We take pleasure in answering at once and thus prominently the communication below, expressing at the same time our great gratification that its faithful author is numbered among the friends of The Sun:

"Dear Editor:
"I am eight years old. Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says 'If you see it in The Sun it's so.' Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?"

"VIRGINIA O'HANLON,
"115 West Ninety-fifth Street."
Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except they see. They think nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great, universe of ours, man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in Santa Claus? You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world. You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not even the strongest man, not even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernatural beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

No Santa Claus! Thank God! he lives, and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

CHURCH GETS BEQUEST

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 24 — A church and two charities will receive the bulk of the estate of Annie Reynolds, 79, of 211 Furley street, who died December 6. Her estate has been put at $27,000. She bequeathed her real estate, tentatively valued at $3,000, to a nephew, W. Roland Reynolds, and provided gifts totaling $5,200 to six relatives and friends. All the rest is to be divided among the Penn Asylum, Belgrade street and Susquehanna avenue; Methodist Home for the Aged, Edgely and Belmont avenue, and the Bensalem Methodist Church, Bensalem, Pa.

The National Tuberculosis Association estimates that 50,000 more beds are needed to meet the need for care of tuberculosis.

Fire Chief Again Warns

tree to dry out as rapidly as it would otherwise.

To make this a safe and happy Christmas, Chief Hagerman has listed a few suggestions which are precautionary measures for your protection and that of the community.

1. Keep the tree outdoors until ready to set it up.
2. Do not set the tree up until necessary.
3. Place the tree in the coolest part of the house. If necessary shut off radiators close to the tree.
4. Set tree in either a pan or dish of water. Keep checking and replenish with water as needed.
5. Under no circumstances use any cotton or paper decorations on the tree unless they are of flame-proof material. This only costs a few cents extra and it is well worth the cost.
6. Use only approved electric lights and make sure that all of the strings are in good condition and not frayed.
7. Do not place electric trains around the tree.
8. Do not leave the tree lights burning when no one is in the house. From time to time inspect the tree to see if any of the needles near the lights have started to turn brown. If so, change the position of the lights.
9. When the needles start to fall off, take the tree down and discard it. If it is desired to keep the tree a few days longer, then do not keep the lights burning for more than a half hour at a time.
10. If lights are desired in windows, never use candles; keep curtains and other flammable material pulled back at least six inches from any light.
11. In hotels, churches, hospitals, and other places of assembly, the location of the tree is of vital importance. It should not be located near any stairway or elevator shaft, which, in the event of fire, would provide an upper draft. It should not be placed near any entrance or exits. The tree or trees should be inspected daily by someone of authority to determine if the condition of the tree is satisfactory. Remember too a small tree can be as beautiful as, but less hazardous than, a big one.
12. Dispose of the tree as quickly as possible after it has served its purpose.

If we follow these safety precautions we can make this a very happy and joyous Christmas and always remember this. In case of a fire leave the building. (Walk, don't run.) Call the fire department.

"Your fire department wishes you and yours a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year," says Chief Hagerman.

NEWPORTVILLE

R. H. Lister returned home Monday from Temple Hospital, Phila., after being a patient there 10 days, after he underwent an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thawley plan to spend Christmas in Easton, Md., with Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Wilkins.

The Married Couples Club of Newportville Presbyterian Church will meet Saturday evening for a Christmas party in the social room at 8.30 p. m. Twenty-five cent comic gifts will be exchanged.

Arthur Miguez at his home on Byberry road has been amplifying beautiful Christmas music through a public address system every evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Renson are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son, Dec. 20th in Doylestown Emergency Hospital. The baby weighed 7 lbs., 6 ozs., and has been named Bradford Wesley.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Becker, Sr., plan to spend Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. John Becker and family, Philadelphia. Also attending will be Mr. and Mrs. John Poore, of Long Island, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dunn, Philadelphia.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shagg were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hawthorne and family, Allen, Joan, Marjorie and Robert, Jr. In the evening, a birthday party was held for Robert, Jr., who was celebrating his 14th birthday anniversary. Relatives attended. Ice cream, cake and pretzels were enjoyed. Gifts were received.

Here's wishing a

to everyone

FOR many of us the Holiday season is also "inventory time." This is a happy coincidence. Because, when we come to count our assets . . . none is quite so valuable as the one that never appears on our books, but which is always written large in our hearts . . . the friendship and loyalty of those whom we are privileged to serve. To one and all of you we say most sincerely: "Thanks a million . . . and may the happiness of the season abide with you and yours throughout the New Year."

Our wish to you on this Christmas day. The merriest of merry Christmases to you and to all those you hold most dear.

Glad some tidings float across the miles from all of us here to all of you.

The snowman is rolling your way, carrying our Christmas cheer — all things good for you and yours, good to you.

Our Christmas wishes are as numerous as the snowflakes . . . as bright as the stars . . . as warm as the burning Yule log.

A Philadelphia road worker who struck a fellow-worker over the head with a 12-pound sledge hammer on the morning of Nov. 25, along Route 202 at Buckingham, was given a formal hearing before Justice of the Peace Clayton H. Lewis, Doylestown, and re-committed to the Bucks County Prison, without bail, on a charge of murder.

He is Alfonso Hixon, 27, who was employed by the Tri-County Construction Company, on the Route 202 widening project. Hixon ran away from the scene after striking Jesse Irvin, 26, of 524 Dudley st., Phila., over the head with the hammer. Irvin died the following day in the Doylestown Emergency Hospital from a fractured skull.

Hixon gave himself up to police in Philadelphia the day after the offense, and was returned to Bucks county.

Judge Edward G. Biester, concluding the December term of criminal court deferred sentence on Daniel Mayo, Newtown, who was convicted of involuntary manslaughter for this term of Quarter Sessions Court.

Judge Biester, who presided at the two-day trial, will sentence Mayo on Friday, Jan. 9.

Assistant District Attorney J. Franklin Hartzel prosecuted the case, which is his second conviction in involuntary manslaughter trials for this term of Quarter Sessions Court.

It also marked another instance of a Philadelphia Coroner's Jury which had exonerated the defendant but who was held for criminal court here upon the request of District Attorney Willard S. Curtin, of Morrisville.

The lone testifier was Alfred J. Ferraro, Phillipsburg, N. J., a stockholder and officer of both the Delaware line and Trans-Bridge Lines which operates in Washington, N. J., Phillipsburg and Easton.

Ferraro, under questioning from Graf, described the facilities of the Delaware Line at its terminal in Phillipsburg. He said it contained offices, machine shops, repair shops, store rooms, paint shops and grease pits.

Ferraro said Delaware at the outset planned to use about two buses in the Fairless Hills route and more would be added later if necessary. Additional employees also would be added if necessary, he said.

'Silent Night' Born in Beauty Matching Its Own Simplicity

By RAYMOND A. LAJOIE
Central Press Correspondent
HIGH IN THE AUSTRIAN ALPS, in the region known as the Tyrol—"the land of the mountains"—is to be found the birthplace of "Silent Night, Holy Night."

Here, the towering Tyrolean peaks, centuries-old and famed for their snow-capped grandeur, rise in lofty simplicity into the cool, clear air, guarding smiling, peaceful valleys.

Far up in these Alpine mountains, where love of music is nature's gift to every child, nestles the town of Oberndorf, Austria. Here in 1818 lived a devout young Austrian priest named Father Joseph Mohr. With his friend, the village schoolmaster and church organist, Franz Gruber, he was destined to give the world this most famous of all Christmas hymns.

The two men, both lovers of great music, had often talked of the fact that "the perfect Christmas song had not yet been found." Thinking about it, Mohr sat in his church study on Christmas Eve, 1818. Outside, the hushed silence of the night heightened the snow-covered beauty and stillness of the mountain scene.

THE PURITY and calmness of the high peaks filled his heart with radiant joy as he recalled those first Christmas tidings, "Jesus, The Saviour is born." And the thoughts that had been long forming in his mind suddenly found musical expression in the song which we have come since to know and love as "Silent Night, Holy Night."

The next morning, Christmas Day, Mohr hurried to his friend's home with the manuscript of his precious song. Gruber read it intently and exclaimed, "Friend Mohr, you have found it—the right song—God be praised!"

Gruber, thrilled with the spirit of his friend's verses, set to work to compose the perfect melody for "the perfect song." Finally, the soft, flowing air we now use came to him. "It sings itself, your song," he cried to the delighted priest. Gruber's real contribution to music lies in the beauty and simplicity of the tune, in its perfect blending with Mohr's verses. The two men sang the new hymn together, to have it ready for the church devotions that night.

Later in the same evening, when the villagers were gathered in the gray little mount church, Mohr and Gruber sang their Christmas song before its first audience. It touched the listeners deeply, and, after the service, they thanked the two friends with tears of joy in their eyes. A new hymn had been born.

The story of how the song spread from its mountain home in the Tyrol to become one of the Christmas favorites in all parts of the world is an enchanting one. Only very slowly did it come into fame. For nearly a year after its first rendition, the song lay almost forgotten in Gruber's desk.

THEN, in November, 1819, the church organ had to be repaired, and the repair man, when he had finished with his work, asked Gruber to play something to test the organ.

The beautiful melody of "Silent Night" came back to Gruber's mind and he played it with all its powerful yet simple beauty. So entranced was the organ-builder that he begged to take a copy of the song home with him to his own town across the mountains.

From one music-lover to another the hymn was passed on. Still it was without a name and was known simply as "The Tyrolean Song," because it had first come from the Tyrolean Alps. With that title it was printed in 1842 for the first time, 24 years after it had been composed.

From that time on, the song has been put into countless other languages and carried to all parts of the world to become the best loved of all Christmas songs and hymns. It touches a heartfelt need, and to all who hear it, it brings the Saviour's calm and peace in its strains of beauty and joy.

As the elderly man took off his clothing he placed it in the same room, put on his pajamas and robe and then went into the bedroom. There neighbors found the robe where Mr. Traub had laid it just before crawling into bed, and turning on the heating pad to warm his frail body.

The purpose of the note was not only to tell how things were during those last few hours, but also to arrange for disposal of some of his personal effects. He mentioned the beneficiaries.

Mr. Traub, a widower, had "summered" here for about 50 years, but for the past 10 years had been a year-round resident here. He was a retired employee of Lit Brothers, Phila.

The Spruighouse laboratory, Straub said, was leased on a month to month basis. The other buildings used there by the school district are on a yearly-lease basis, he explained.

Miller said also that the plan announced October 30, to put 10th grade Delhaas students on full sessions by Jan. 1st was now an "impossibility" because class rooms in the new Delhaas addition will not be ready for occupancy by that time.

was to have expired Friday, will not be necessary.

On this basis, said Young, the board has decided to take the cost of the portable equipment out of the proposed school's construction budget, and put this cost in the school budget for 1953-54, said Young. "The amount of this portable equipment is about the amount we're over," said Young.

"The base bid on the general construction is not too far out of line," said Young, "all the overage was because of increases in plumbing, heating, and electrical work."

"I don't think there will be any doubt about it that the low man will get the bid," said Young. He said he expects the contracts will be awarded "right after" the bids for sewer connection to the Township of Falls Sewer Authority's line are opened Jan. 8.

NEWS OF SCHOOLS IN AREA---

All public, private and parochial schools in the Bristol area are invited to send news items for publication in this column which appears frequently.

Bristol Township Elementary School

A group of Bristol Township teachers are participating in a unique teaching experience at Fort Dix, N. J. These professional employees of Bristol Township travel to the Red Shield Club (Salvation Army Clubhouse) Rexal Road, Fort Dix, N. J. every Tuesday and Thursday evening to teach G. I. wives of servicemen stationed at this Army installation. These G. I. wives are girls who have been in this country only a short time and run the geographical gamut from Japan to Brazil with Korea, Italy, France, Germany, Belgium and Porto Rico included. These war-brides, feeling the need for such an educational program, anxiously await the arrival of the teachers each evening and the response to the program has been most encouraging.

The subjects taught arise out of the need felt by the women in acclimating themselves to the American way of life. These G. I. wives "hunger" for a basic knowledge of readable English. Therefore the lessons are composed mainly of reading instruction. The customs, history, geography, traditions, and holidays of America are taught along with map understanding and wise marketing and purchasing instruction.

Participating in this program from Bristol Township every Tuesday and Thursday evening from 7:30 to 9:30 are Mrs. Mary Kates, Maple Shade; Mrs. Dorothy McCollom, Director of Elementary Education, Miss Elizabeth Foster, Miss Elizabeth Howard, Miss Marion Barth, and Miss Marie Element from Wistar School.

St. Mary's Hall

BURLINGTON, Dec. 24 — Miss Eleanor A. Foster, a Junior at St. Mary's Hall, is on the honor roll for the second term. She has been a student at the "Hall" since attending the fifth grade. Eleanor is a member of Inner Circle, Student Council, Glee Club, Drama Club, Odd Moments, Overtones, The World Outlook Committee, and Ivy Leaves and Leaflet. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul V. Forster, 507 Radcliffe St., Bristol, Pa. She was also in the cast of the Christmas Mystery which is given annually in the Chapel of the Holy Innocents.

Miss Nancy B. Gray, a member of the seventh grade, is on the honor roll for the second term. Among other activities, she is in the Drama Club, and is a member of the Community Life Committee.

Theme is "Giving to God's Family Around the World"

EDGELY, Dec. 24 — A monthly meeting of Pilgrim Missionary Society met at the church on Thursday.

Mrs. Thomas Foster opened the devotional service. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Robert Thomson. Carols were sung with Ann Booz as pianist. The program centered around the theme, "Peacemakers and Giving to God's Family Around the World."

Mrs. Foster presented a scene depicting a typical American couple having just received a letter from their son in Korea. This told of a Korean boy who, though faced with great hardships, still had the heart to give his newly-acquired and only possessions to some one he felt in greater need than he. The son pointed out to his family that this boy had been under the teachings of Christian missionaries, had learned his lessons well, and that people in this country should do likewise and continue to give not only at home but around the world. Mrs. Victor Rockhill and Mrs. Clarence Young assisted in presenting this scene.

Slides were shown of various Presbyterian colleges, there being 44 in all.

The business meeting was conducted by president, Mrs. Clarence Kay.

Reports were given by committee heads: Mrs. Rockhill, jewelry; Mrs. Thomas Brown, Christmas cards; Mrs. Tobias Swope, recent fellowship dinner.

Approval was made of purchase of 10 chairs for the church.

The three circle leaders, Mrs. John Conyers, Mrs. Victor Rockhill and Mrs. Thomas Smith advised that circles will hold their first meeting at the homes of the leaders, Jan. 8th at 7:30 p. m. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Rockhill and Mrs. Thomas Luker to 14.

Bucher's Name Appears In College "Who's Who"

PENNDLE, Dec. 24 — Jean B. Bucher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd S. Bucher, is one of seven seniors selected for entry in the publication of "Who's Who Among Students In American Universities and Colleges," by the faculty of Waynesburg College, Waynesburg, Pa.

The student nominees are selected on the basis of excellence and sincerity in scholarship, leadership and participation in extra curricular and academic activities, citizenship and service to the school and promise of future usefulness to business and society.

Throughout his college career, Jean, a graduate of Council Rock high school, Newtown, has been active in and held office in the following: Alpha Phi Omega National Service Fraternity; the Kiltie Band; the College Glee Club; Music Appreciation Club; and the Sphinx Society. In Memoriam

HILL — In loving memory of our daughter Dorothy's 33rd birthday and our Dad, Allison Hill who passed away June 17, 1950.

Their smiling faces, their pleasant ways, are a pleasure to recall.

They had kindly words for each, died and beloved by all.

Some day we hope to meet them, to clasp their hands in the better lands.

And never to part again.

Sadly missed by MOTHER AND WIFE EDITH and ALLISON JR. and BETTY.

SOLD — In loving memory of our son who passed away Dec. 24, 1951.

They say time heals all sorrow and helps us to forget.

But time has only proved how much we miss you yet.

How much we miss you yet, how much we miss you yet.

God gave us strength to fight it, and courage to bear the blow.

But we miss you all the more, and we miss you all the more.

Sadly missed by MOTHER AND FATHER.

SOLD — Paul, in loving memory of our son who passed away Dec. 24, 1951.

NEWS OF SCHOOLS IN AREA...

All public, private and parochial schools in the Bristol area are invited to send news items for publication in this column which appears frequently.

Bristol Township Elementary School

A group of Bristol Township teachers are participating in a unique teaching experience at Fort Dix, N. J. These professional employees of Bristol Township travel to the Red Shield Club (Salvation Army Clubhouse) Rexal Road, Fort Dix, N. J. every Tuesday and Thursday evening to teach G. I. wives are girls who have been in this country only a short time and run the geographical gamut from Japan to Brazil with Korea, Italy, France, Germany, Belgium and Porto Rico included. These war-brides, feeling the need for such an educational program, anxiously await the arrival of the teachers each evening and the response to the program has been most encouraging.

The subjects taught arise out of the need felt by the women in acclimating themselves to the American way of life. These G. I. wives "hunger" for a basic knowledge of readable English. Therefore the lessons are composed mainly of reading instruction. The customs, history, geography, traditions, and holidays of America are taught along with map understanding and wise marketing and purchasing instruction.

Participating in this program from Bristol Township every Tuesday and Thursday evening from 7:30 to 9:30 are Mrs. Mary Kates, Maple Shade; Mrs. Dorothy McCollum, Director of Elementary Education, Miss Elizabeth Foster, Miss Elizabeth Howard, Miss Marion Barth, and Miss Marie Clement from Wistar School.

Theme is "Giving to God's Family Around the World"

EDGELY, Dec. 24—A monthly meeting of Pilgrim Missionary Society met at the church on Thursday.

Mrs. Thomas Foster opened the devotional service. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Robert Thomson. Carols were sung with Ann Booz as pianist. The program centered around the theme, "Peacemakers and Giving to God's Family Around the World."

Mrs. Foster presented a scene depicting a typical American couple having just received a letter from their son in Korea. This told of a Korean boy who, though faced with great hardships, still had the heart to give his newly-acquired and only possessions to some one he felt in greater need than he. The son pointed out to his family that this boy had been under the teachings of Christian missionaries, had learned his lessons well, and that people in this country should do likewise and continue to give not only at home but around the world. Mrs. Victor Rockhill and Mrs. Clarence Young assisted in presenting this scene.

Slides were shown of various Presbyterian colleges, there being 44 in all.

The business meeting was conducted by president, Mrs. Clarence Kay.

Reports were given by committee heads: Mrs. Rockhill, jewelry; Mrs. Thomas Brown, Christmas cards; Mrs. Tobias Swope, recent fellowship dinner.

Approval was made of purchase of 10 chairs for the church.

The three circle leaders, Mrs. John Conyers, Mrs. Victor Rockhill and Mrs. Thomas Smith advised that circles will hold their first meeting at the homes of the leaders, Jan. 5th at 7:30 p. m. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Rockhill and Mrs. Thomas Laker to 14.

Andalusia Marine Takes A Phila. Miss As His Bride

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 24 — On Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock, Miss Dolores Payton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Payton, this city, and Pfc. Michael Gabriele, Jr., U. S. Marine Corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gabriele, Andalusia, were united in marriage. The double ring ceremony was performed in St. Matthews R. C. Church, here.

The bride chose a white net and lace gown, ballerina length, with full skirt. A train of pearls held a finger-tip veil, and the bride carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaid, sister of the bridegroom, was Miss Angela Gabriele, Andalusia, who wore a pink net gown over tulle, and carried yellow mums.

Pfc. Samuel Gabriele, U. S. Air Force, Andalusia, was best man for his cousin.

A reception for the immediate families was held at the Gabriele home.

The bride is employed by Bell Telephone Co., Phila.

Pfc. Gabriele will leave on Saturday for Puerto Rico and Korea.

Mrs. Gabriele will reside here.

Today's Quiet Moment

submitted by
The Rev. Edward G. Yeomans,
Pastor.

"O come all ye faithful"

We come into Thy presence, our Father, with praise and thanksgiving, with gladness and rejoicing.

"For unto us is born this day in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ, the Lord."

We thank Thee for that great love wherewith Thou hast first loved us and didst give Thine Only Begotten Son to the world.

"O little town of Bethlehem, How still we see thee lie."

We pray that the quietness and stillness, the peace and calm that hovered over Bethlehem that first Christmas morn might soon rest upon the world once more.

May the troubled souls turn to Thee for refuge. May the selfish spirit of men be supplanted by unselfishness. May deceit give way to truth. May hatred give way to love. May understanding dispense the clouds of pride and jealousy. We pray for "Peace on earth, good will towards all men."

Bless us on this Christmas Eve and tomorrow on Christmas Day. May we observe this season in the true spirit of humility and thanksgiving. May we gather together as families in the spirit of righteousness and true holiness.

"O come to my heart, Lord Jesus; There is room in my heart for thee!"

Amen.

Chatter Club were participants in a Christmas party Thursday evening at Riverside, N. J. Dinner was served at Cinnelli's Country Inn, the group then witnessing a floor show at a Riverside Club, exchanging gifts, and selecting new "Pollyannas." In attendance were: Mrs. Walter Colville, Mrs. Allen Lebo, Sr., Mrs. Marvin Collins, Sr., Mrs. James Smith, Mrs. Edith Cassidy, Mrs. Eileen Kulow, Mrs. Paul Johnson, and Mrs. Eugene Dugan.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Raymond, Court B, Bristol Terrace II, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Friday evening, in Nazareth hospital, Phila. The baby, who has been named Andrea Lynn, weighed 6 lbs., 14 ozs., at birth. Mrs. Raymond, the former Miss Helen Scott, Barry Place, and daughter returned home Tuesday morning.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Satterthwaite, 233 West Circle, were Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Kueny and family, of Mayfair. Today and Christmas day are being spent by Mr. and Mrs. Satterthwaite with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Satterthwaite, at Jenkintown.

Holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Martin, 333 Jackson street, will be Mr. and Mrs. James Gardiner, Mt. Holly, N. J.

Dinner guests tomorrow of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lynn, Pine street, will be the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Lynn, of Mayfair.

Sixty gathered at the Christmas party held Saturday afternoon in Bristol Methodist Church social hall for nursery and kindergarten pupils and their mothers. Hostesses were the teachers, namely Mrs. Howard Smoyer, Mrs. John Dowd, Mrs. John Spicer, Jr., and Mrs. Morris Carter. Group singing, "movies," and the serving of ice cream and cake were on the program. Santa Claus arrived to distribute books and boxes of candy to each child.

Peter M. Wickert, 930 Radcliffe street, is home on Christmas vacation from Keystone Junior College, LaPlume, where he is a freshman in the liberal arts program.

Fred Petrino has been promoted to corporal. He is in the U. S. Air Corps and at the present time is in Alaska. Fred enlisted in September, 1951. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Petrino, 324 Wood street.

"Educational" Clinic Held to Discuss Prices

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 24 — Proprietors of food stores, restaurants and taverns in Montgomery and Bucks counties attended an "educational clinic" Monday conducted by Office of Price Stabilization representatives in the Court House.

The proprietors were invited to attend the 10-hour clinic after minor violations of price control regulations were found in their establishments. OPS said the violations, for the most part, involved the failure to post price lists as required and improper registrations of prices of meals, beverages and food under price control.

Dr. James F. Bogardus, regional OPS executive, said the consultations were primarily educational but warned that further price control violations in any of the establishments represented yesterday by the owners would be referred directly to the OPS enforcement division.

The clinics, of which this was the first are designed to help bring stores and restaurants into full compliance with OPS regulations and avoid enforcement action wherever it can be avoided, Dr. Bogardus said.

OPS representatives who participated were Harold F. Krantz and William G. Horney, for food stores; Charles E. Hoffman and John F. O'Neill, for restaurants and taverns. The clinic was conducted under the supervision of Frank J. Farrell. All are members of the Philadelphia regional office.

Canal Now Being Filled; Open Dam at New Hope

NEW HOPE, Dec. 24 — The new dam was opened here Monday permitting water to flow into the canal to fill it from this borough to Bristol. It is expected that the canal will be filled by Christmas, according to Russell Paetzell, superintendent of the Delaware Division of the Penna. Canal.

The dam was opened (following final inspection of the canal) by State Senator Edward B. Watson and state forester of the Dept. of Forests & Waters William P. Moll.

Complaints from Main street residents were voiced Monday afternoon, when leaks in the canal caused water to fill their cellars and pour across their lawns.

Clay was packed along the banks Tuesday, Paetzell said. "The canal is not flowing as fast as it was yesterday morning and gradually the situation will correct itself."

Paetzell added that the water won't be deviated for the next few days until officials can determine whether the flooding can be halted.

The 60-mile canal which starts at Easton and cuts through the middle of Bristol was closed down officially in 1932, with the last boat passing north in October, 1931. Built in 1832 the canal once was used for transporting anthracite coal on mule-drawn barges.

Through the efforts of 2,000 members of the Delaware Valley Protective Association, restoration of the old beauty spot was started several years ago.

Senator Watson, who has taken an active interest in the work, declared today, "Governor Fine deserves most of the credit for the water being in here today. He and Moll did everything to push this thing through."

EDGELY

A Christmas party sponsored by Ladies Auxiliary of Edgely Fire Co., for children of Edgely, will be held Sunday at two p. m., in Edgely fire hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maglio announce the birth of a daughter in Mercer Hospital, Trenton, N. J., Dec. 16th. The baby weighed 7 lbs., 6 ozs., and has been named Rose Marie.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Approximately 22,000,000 Americans or one-seventh of the population, went fishing last year, says the National Geographic Society in its 1952 Book of Fishes.

Andalusia Marine Takes A Phila. Miss As His Bride

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 24 — On Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock, Miss Dolores Payton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Payton, this city, and Pfc. Michael Gabriele, Jr., U. S. Marine Corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gabriele, Andalusia, were united in marriage. The double ring ceremony was performed in St. Matthews R. C. Church, here.

The bride chose a white net and lace gown, ballerina length, with full skirt. A tiara of pearls held a finger-tip veil, and the bride carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaid, sister of the bridegroom, was Miss Angela Gabriele, Andalusia, who wore a pink net gown over tulle, and carried yellow mums.

Pfc. Samuel Gabriele, U. S. Air Force, Andalusia, was best man for his cousin.

A reception for the immediate families was held at the Gabriele home.

The bride is employed by Bell Telephone Co., Phila.

Pfc. Gabriele will leave on Saturday for Puerto Rico and Korea. Mrs. Gabriele will reside here.

"Educational" Clinic Held to Discuss Prices

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 24 — Proprietors of food stores, restaurants and taprooms in Montgomery and Bucks counties attended an "educational clinic" Monday conducted by Office of Price Stabilization representatives in the Court House.

The proprietors were invited to attend the 10-hour clinic after minor violations of price control regulations were found in their establishments. OPS said the violations, for the most part, involved the failure to post price lists as required and improper registrations of prices of meals, beverages and food under price control.

Dr. James F. Bogardus, regional OPS executive, said the consultations were primarily educational but warned that further price control violations in any of the establishments represented yesterday by the owners would be referred directly to the OPS enforcement division.

The clinics, of which this was the first are designed to help bring stores and restaurants into full

Merry Christmas

Five-Year Old Lidia

happier. She likes school, and a question about the boys she has met at school brought a wide smile to her face.

Through her mother she learned that pork was the meat usually cooked in the Ukraine for Christmas. There were not as many presents in the old country, but the mothers usually made something new for each child — a dress, an undergarment, or an outer shirt.

Christmas preparations didn't start as early as they do here, according to Mrs. Litwinenko, maybe a week or two before the holiday. "My mother would make cookies, but over here she can buy them. She is too busy to make them now," volunteered Valentine as she explained that her mother finds her time well filled with the baby and the other three children. But to the Litwinenkos the store-purchased goodies are really a treat, for vendors in such variety were not to be found either in the Ukraine or in Germany when they were there.

As for church services, Valentine was informed by her mother that most of the families would go to church Christmas morning, and also to an evening service. Just whether it was on Christmas eve or on Christmas night they are not too certain.

Valentine, who speaks Russian and Polish, in addition to English and Ukrainian, mentioned to this reporter (without interpreting for her mother's benefit) that no doubt mother will make something very nice for each of the Litwinenkos. "My mother sews dresses and other things," she explained.

No doubt as Mrs. Litwinenko sits in her cozy little three-room bungalow, preparing for Christmas in this, a new land to her, her thoughts will go back to her girlhood and young womanhood in the Ukraine. She will have fond memories of many a Christmas with her own parents and with her children when they were younger, but she will not long for one minute for the days when, barefoot, she went out into the deep winter snow to do her daily work.

Today the family has warm clothing, they all have shoes, their own warm home, Valentine goes to a modern school, and Papa Litwinenko has a job at Levittown.

Yes, it will be a merry Christmas for the Litwinenkos, for the little family is together, with a bright future in a free land as the biggest gift "under the pillow."

Fergusonville Residents Enjoy Christmas Party

NEWPORTVILLE, Dec. 24 — The Fergusonville Community Center and Improvement Association held a community Christmas party for children up to 12 years of age on Sunday at two o'clock.

The party was held in a decorated hall, including a platform where there was a large chair for Santa. Gifts and candy were placed in piles for Santa to present after his arrival. The gifts were supplied by Thomas Thawley, who played an electric guitar and Henry Marshall, an accordion. The men were gayly dressed in cowboy outfits. The group enjoyed singing and the men supplied cowboy music.

Little "Margie" Perpete, in a yellow costume gave a solo and tap dance, "Me and My Teddy Bear"; Susan Perpete, in a blue and white striped costume and bonnet sang and tap danced to "O, You Beautiful Doll".

The children talked to Santa as he presented each child with a gift. Ice cream was served. Large candy canes were given each child as they left.

The use of heroin for medical purposes has been discontinued in 24 countries, and other less dangerous drugs have been substituted, according to a bulletin of the World Health Organization.

More Than 200 Attend A Gay Party at Eddington

EDDINGTON, Dec. 24 — On Monday evening, Eddington Fire Co. held a Christmas party for children with more than 200 attending. Chairman was Nelson Thomas. Group singing was participated in. James Scott sang "White Christmas"; Michael Palmer and "Billy" Walker sang "I saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus"; "Judy" Palmer sang "Susie Snowflake"; Ray Campbell, "Rudolph the Red-nose Reindeer"; Dardene Crapp gave an Irish Jig; Charles Budock, magician, performed tricks.

A show entitled "Stars of Tomorrow" followed: Lee Patton, "Goofus" dance; "Judy" Patton, acrobatic tap strut; "Betty" Brand, rumba; Helen Hoffman, pantomime act; Marjory Kim, Canadian Capers; Barry Franklin, vocal and horn solos; Richard O'Neil, Spanish dance; Act by "three tunes"; "Betty" Brand, Helen Hoffman, Marjory Kim; "Cruising Down the River" and "I Didn't Know the Gun was Loaded"; "Judy" and Lee Patton, acrobatic juggling; George Tripp, tap dance; Marjory Kim and Richard O'Neil, "Lost On the Island"; Betty Brand, Ballroom strut; Helen Hoffman, pantomime act; Grand Finale, entire troop sang "Santa Claus is Coming to Town".

Everyone sang "Jingle Bells" as Santa Claus arrived to present each child a box of candy, balloons and ice-cream.

his family had been denied by the Adjutant General's Office in Washington.

Cpl. Auty was the only child—if you can call a man with 18 years of regular army service a child—of his widowed mother. Hospital authorities and relatives asked Red Cross to help bring him back to his alling mother's bedside.

The local Red Cross office notified its national headquarters. The latter in turn, notified the AGO of the request for leave for the corporal.

Dec. 10th the local office was advised that leave for Cpl. Auty had been denied.

That very evening Mrs. Auty's condition grew more critical. Red Cross again swung into gear to seek a leave for Auty. This time AGO granted him emergency leave.

Cpl. Auty arrived in Bristol five a. m. on a Sunday morning just a few short days ago. He had made the trip half-way across the world with the help of the Red Cross in Seoul; at Drake Field, Japan; at Travis Air Force Base in California. At Travis the Red Cross had even advanced him $115 to permit him to fly from the west coast to New York.

At the hospital Mrs. Auty awaited her son. She knew he was coming. The nurses had told her. They said that half of the boys in Korea were coming home for Christmas, and half were coming home for New Years. The corporal, they said, was to be in the Christmas group. She had no cause for alarm because he had flown in from Korea unexpectedly.

Well, the corporal had arrived. He arrived because a group of people, some of whom he may never even meet, helped him make his trip across half the world.

Remember the newspaper item? "Corporal Joseph Auty, who was serving in Korea, received emergency leave, and arrived home shortly before his mother's death." He was at the hospital when his mother died.

"His coming home like that was the best Christmas present a mother ever had," repeated the corporal's aunt.

Members of Bensalem Rotary Club; State Police from Lanshorne barracks and Bensalem Township police officers were on hand to make sure that everything went smoothly. In fact these groups combined efforts to make the party for the Bensalem township safety squads a "bang-up affair".

Long before 4:30, the scheduled time of Santa's arrival, girls and boys hurried to the Flying Dutchman Air Service Field, better known as Buehl field. About a dozen "runs" were made over the field, planes dropping peanuts for a "grand scramble". A "run" would be made, then the kids would make one big rush, each anxious to find a "white" peanut entitling the finder to a free airplane ride. There were 14 lucky ones who registered and received necessary "coupons" from Ernest Buehl, owner of the Flying Dutchman Air Service. With their parents' permission each holder of a coupon will be given a free 10-minute ride within the next week.

Pilots of the "peanut planes" were Miss Anne Shields and Donald Blackburn, both of Philadelphia. Mr. Buehl, himself, served as pilot for Santa, in the person of Raymond Anderson. Among those on the official welcoming committee were the following who crowded about the plane to give their aid to Santa: Robert K. Shaffer, superintendent of Bensalem Twp. schools; Dr. W. S. Broditsch, chairman of safety committee, Rotary Club; James Kite, president of Rotary; Pte. Andrew Kutney, of Langhorne barracks; John Messenger, in charge of safety patrols of Bensalem twp., and J. Maurice Tomlinson, chairman of community services, Rotary Club. Bensalem Police Chief George Rentz also stopped by for a time.

"This is a real welcome," exclaimed Santa, as he stepped from the bright green plane, and was at once surrounded by a few score young folks. They followed him into the hangar where a lighted tree formed a bright spot. At a long table there were served: Ice cream, chocolate milk, cookies, and each guest was presented with a big candy cane and a box of candy.

Motion pictures and a puppet show were on the program; and the crowd joined in singing "Jingle Bells" and other numbers.

The holders of "white" peanuts who are entitled to airplane rides are: Arthur Anderson, Dennis Nagy, "Gus" Paulson, Martha Averett, Averill Toepferman, Eleanor Yeager, Barbara Hoff, John Kiers, Lee Jackson, George Ruth, Edward Bramble, Kenneth Dietrichs, Richard Graven, Thomas Tomlinson.

pated in a seasonal party at Torresdale Country Club.

Forty-three tons of turkeys were required in order to provide one turkey for each employee of the three local plants of Kaiser Metal Products Co. The turkeys were distributed yesterday afternoon.

Bonuses have been distributed by Manhattan Soap Co. to employees of that firm.

In addition to some of the plant's products, bonuses ranging from $5 to $25 have been distributed to employees of Hunter-Wilson Co. The amounts of the bonuses are dependent upon length of service. Pay for 52 hours straight time, plus a turkey, was what filled the stocking of each employee of Superior Zinc Corp. The firm played Santa Claus. Turkeys were distributed today; the bonus last Friday.

According to announcement by an official at Philco Corp., Croydon, employees at that plant received a bonus last week.

The usual Christmas bonus was arranged by the Bristol Trust Co. for employees of that banking institution.

A Christmas gift of money has been presented by the Farmers National Bank of Bucks County to each employee.

Today is a holiday for employees of Badenhause Corp., Cornwells Heights. This is a Christmas season gift to the employees of that firm, each of whom has also been presented with a turkey.

Each employee at Paterson Parchment Paper Co. was given a bonus of one week's salary, plus $5 to be used toward the purchase of a Christmas dinner. This presentation was made Dec. 18th.

Pitconka's Pansy Farm presented a bonus to each employee, the amount being determined by length of service. In addition a turkey was given each employee.

NEWTOWN

Owen Davis, Jr., returned Saturday from Abington Hospital where he underwent an operation.

Miss Polly Williams, a student at West Chester State Teachers College, is spending Christmas vacation with her mother, Mrs. Ruth Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Nixon will spend the week-end with Capt. and Mrs. Lindley L. Roberts, Salisbury, Md.

Seneca Cassar and his daughter, Philadelphia, are spending a few days with Harry Cassar.

Cpl. Charles E. Schaick, who has been serving in the U. S. Army for 3½ years, was on Dec. 11th released at Ft. Belvoir, Va., where he has been stationed. He graduated from the Navy School of Music, Washington, D. C., then attached to the 356th Army Band. He is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth D. Luff. In September he will enter Penna. State College for radio and television course.

War Bride Describes Yule Celebration in Ireland

Everything Goes Into Xmas Pudding, Including Charms

By Staff Reporter

LEVITTOWN, Dec. 24 — "Cad mille Failte!" That's what Mrs. Elwood A. (Mary) Miller, of 23 Walnut lane, used to say each Christmas. Pronounced "kade milla falta," it means "100,000 welcomes," in the Irish Free State.

Mrs. Miller, red-headed, bright-eyed Irish colleen, met her husband in Gloucestershire, England during World War II, when both were assigned to topographic intelligence work. Mr. Miller was a sergeant in the American Army and she was a civilian worker.

The Irish, or Gaelic, word for Christmas is something that sounds like "nulloog." In the Irish Free State the old Gaelic is being revived, to replace English as the national language.

The former Mary Patricia Bridget Sims, Mrs. Miller is the oldest child of a family of 16 children living in Limerick, a city which she says is set amid the bright green landscapes for which Ireland is famous. The River Shannon flows past that city.

The Irish Christmas customs are similar to ours, she says, with a few differences. Santa Claus they call Father-Christmas. He fills the children's stockings, but the Irish children hang them at their beds instead of the chimney.

There aren't as many Christmas trees displayed in Ireland as in America, Mrs. Miller observes, but in her native land the homes are decked with holly and mistletoe.

On Christmas day the Irish visit each other's homes, exchanging gifts and greetings. The hosts and hostesses serve punch and wine. The calls are made by walking or by bicycle. The Irish don't take long trips, Mrs. Miller says. "If someone lives more than 25 miles from you, you're lucky to see them once a year," she says.

Sometimes turkey is served on the Christmas table in Ireland, and sometimes they eat a roast goose. But the main course, in terms of interest and preparation, is the dessert, Christmas pudding.

Each Christmas an Irish family makes several puddings. They insert the ingredients, fruit, nuts, spices, butter and flour, with whiskey, brandy or porter. Each member of the family stirs, making a wish while stirring.

Rings, trinkets and other charms are added to the pudding, and the mixture is boiled four hours, canned and served—years later. For their present dessert, an Irish family opens up a pudding they canned one to five years before, Mrs. Miller says.

Before serving, the pudding is soaked with spirits and ignited. Then hot custard sauce is added. A young woman finding a thimble in her serving of pudding is condemned to be a spinster, while a ring predicts a happy marriage.

The Irish Free State, independent of Great Britain, does not share England's austere rationing of food, Mrs. Miller says. Many English people visit the Emerald Isle just to enjoy a hearty meal. In addition, the cost of living is low in Eire, she says, and a family of four can be fed for a week on five dollars.

Mrs. Miller first went from Eire to England as a member of the Women's Royal Air Force. She was injured in a blitz and discharged, and then took the job in Gloucestershire. She and Mr. Miller were married in England.

When he was returned to the States, Mr. Miller had to wait six months before his bride could join him. She arrived in a ship carrying war brides in Feb., 1946.

The Millers first made their home with his parents in Valley View, and then bought a house in Cressona. They moved from there to Levittown Nov. 15. The couple has two children, Jeanette, 5½ and Michael, one-year-old.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller are both antiques collectors. In addition, he collects old and rare guns. Mr. Miller works for Kaiser Metals Corp. as a press operator.

LEVITTOWN, Dec. 24 — In that construction job you may have noticed at 2 Graceful lane, a chiropractor's office is being added to the house. Dr. Thomas T. Hilton plans to open a practice there Jan. 15.

The doctor, his wife, Doris and their three children already occupy the house. They moved here from Donora Nov. 1. He had a chiropractic office in that city for 13 years.

Dr. Hilton is a native of Clairton. His wife was born in Salem, Ohio. Their children are Phyllis, ten, in fifth grade, and Allan seven, in third grade in Wistar Institute School; and Billy, four.

Anxious to have his new office quarters completed, Dr. Hilton does much of the work himself. The carpenter is being enclosed, and with the utility room will provide space for a waiting room and an x-ray and therapy room. Behind the utility room, and now under construction, will be an examination and adjusting room with a lavatory.

A member of the National Chiropractic Association and the Pennsylvania Therapy Association, Dr. Hilton is a graduate of Lincoln Chiropractic College, Indianapolis. He also studied at Duquesne University, Pittsburgh.

He was in the Navy Medical Corps during World War II, assigned to Great Lakes Naval Hospital and to two ships, the cargo transport U. S. S. Ascella and the aircraft carrier U. S. S. Bunker Hill.

Fresh water fishing is a pastime Dr. Hilton is fond of. His wife enjoys sewing.

LEVITTOWN, Dec. 24 — Smartness is combined with simplicity in the Christmas display at the home of Salvatore Castro and his wife, Renee, of 23 Friendly lane.

Mr. Castro has painted a large red candle, in water colors, on the front picture window, lighted for the benefit of passersby with lamps within the house. A glowing flame and light rays are also seen from the street. On other windows, his wife has mounted additional Christmas decorations.

There will be two sets of electric trains in the Castro household, one for their 3½-year-old son, Ronald. Mr. Castro is constructing a small-gauge train set, and will set up another set for Ronald to play with.

The Castros moved here from Stratford, N. J., Oct. 25. Mr. Castro is originally from Newark, N. J., and his wife, is a Philadelphian.

He is assistant design engineer for the Warren Webster Co., Phila., and at the same time is studying in that city. He was in the Army during World War II, in the Asiatic-Pacific theater.

Mrs. Castro is a graduate of Dobbins Vocational School, Phila., and studied at Phila. School of Office Training. She used to do office work for the Pennsylvania Railroad Co.

Gardening and sewing are hobbies with Mrs. Castro, and the new home presents plenty of opportunities for both activities. Her sister, Mrs. Robert (Jayne) Dahms, and the Dahms family, live at 20 Shadestree lane.

Five-Year Old Lida

Two-year-old Lida is a happy girl. She likes school, and a question about the boys she has met at school brought a wide smile to her face.

Through her mother she learned that pork was the meat usually cooked in the Ukraine for Christmas. There were not as many presents in the old country, but the mothers usually made something new for each child — a dress, an undergarment, or an outer shirt.

Christmas preparations didn't start as early as they do here, according to Mrs. Litwinenko, who was a week or two before the holiday. "My mother would make cookies, but over here she can buy them. She is too busy to make them now," volunteered Valentine as she explained that her mother finds her time well filled with the baby and the other three children. But to the Litwinenkos the store-purchased goodies are really a treat, for vendors in such variety were not to be found either in the Ukraine or in Germany when they were there.

As for church services, Valentine was informed by her mother that most of the families would go to church Christmas morning, and also to an evening service. Just whether it was on Christmas eve or on Christmas night they are not too certain.

Valentine, who speaks Russian and Polish, in addition to English and Ukrainian, mentioned to this reporter (without interpreting for her mother's benefit) that no doubt mother will make something very nice for each of the Litwinenkos. "My mother sews dresses and other things," she explained.

No doubt as Mrs. Litwinenko sits in her cozy little three-room bungalow, preparing for Christmas in this, a new land to her, her thoughts will go back to her girlhood and young womanhood in the Ukraine. She will have fond memories of many a Christmas with her own parents and with her children when they were younger, but she will not long for one minute for the days when, barefoot, she went out into the deep winter snow to do her daily work.

Today the family has warm clothing, they all have shoes, their own warm home, Valentine goes to a modern school, and Papa Litwinenko has a job at Levittown.

Yes, it will be a merry Christmas for the Litwinenkos, for the little family is together, with a bright future in a free land as the biggest gift "under the pillow."
